Series 3: Correspondence

Dates: 1962-2010

Extent: 17.75 Cubic Feet in 44 manuscript boxes

Scope and Content: The Correspondence series contains incoming business and personal correspondence received by Robert Rauschenberg and his studio.

The Administrative sub-series contains incoming correspondence sent to Rauschenberg and his studio addressing various projects and business matters. The series offers a view into the day-to-day activities of Rauschenberg's studio and demonstrates his community engagement and widespread professional influence. In addition to incoming correspondence, there are some carbon-copies of outgoing correspondence from early studio assistants (1970s) and print-outs of e-mail correspondence from later years (2000s). Outgoing correspondence is written by studio staff on behalf of Rauschenberg and occasionally contains direct quotes from the artist. Studio staff whose correspondence may be found in the series include: Thomas Buehler, Gina Guy, Bradley Jeffries (Fray), Denise LeBeau, Dorothea Rockburne, David White, and Charles Yoder. Letter writers include government bodies and politicians, humanitarian organizations, artists' foundations, museums, galleries, educational institutions, media companies, and others. For additional correspondence related to Museums, Galleries and specific projects such as Experiments in Art and Technology (E.A.T.) or Rauschenberg Overseas Culture Interchange (ROCI) see the Projects and Exhibitions series.

Birthday, get well and holiday cards, fan letters, invitations, and newsletters are generally grouped together into their own sub-series, although some may also be found in the Administrative or Personal sub-series.

The Personal sub-series contains letters sent to Rauschenberg and to his studio assistants. Correspondence in this sub-series is generally more personal and less business oriented than the Administrative sub-series, but, due to the overlap in Rauschenberg's personal and professional life, there is overlap between the two sub-series. In addition to letters, the Personal sub-series contains some writings, newspaper clippings, notes, drafts, photographs, and sketches sent to Rauschenberg in the mail. Highlights of the Personal sub-series includes letters from artists and collaborators such as Mel Bochner, Trisha Brown, Merce Cunningham, Sidney B. Felsen, Dorothea Rockburne, James Rosenquist, and Jean Tinguley.

For drafts of Rauschenberg's outgoing correspondence, both administrative and personal, see the Writings and Notes series.

Arrangement: This series is divided into the following sub-series: Administrative, Cards, Fan Letters, Invitations, Newsletters, and Personal. The Administrative and Personal sub-series are arranged alphabetically by sender's last name or name of sending institution. Some correspondence is only sorted by sender's initial letter into General folders; it is recommended that researchers check these folders in addition to individually identified folders. Correspondence from unidentified senders is found at the end of the Administrative and Personal sub-series.

Processing Information: The majority of the records in this series were collected by the Robert Rauschenberg Studio; the series and its arrangement were created during processing, with the exception of the Personal sub-series, which is based on an original "People" grouping created by the studio.
